

Quiz 19-1 Sentence fragments

Repair any fragments by attaching them to nearby sentences or rewriting them as complete sentences. Do not change correct sentences. Example:

Though Katie hadn't finished the memo, ^{she} ~~she~~ decided to go to lunch.

1. For English speakers, Wales has some of the most unpronounceable place names in the world. Such as Llanrhystd, Pwllheli, and Llanfaircaereinion.
2. After only one date with Tomás I came to a conclusion. That with his English and my Spanish we were destined never to communicate.
3. As we walked up the path, we came upon the gun barrels. Large gray concrete structures covered with ivy and weeds.
4. Violence has produced a great deal of apprehension among teachers at Dean Junior High. So that self-preservation, in fact, has become their primary aim.
5. The horses were dressed up with hats and flowers. Some even wore sunglasses.
6. I felt caught between two worlds. The world of my friends in my Latino neighborhood and the world of academia.
7. Keiko arrived in the village of Futagami. Where she was to spend the summer with her grandparents.
8. I had pushed these fears into one of those quiet places in my mind. Hoping they would stay there asleep.
9. Aspiring bodybuilders must first ascertain their strengths and weaknesses. And then decide what they want to achieve.
10. The side effects of lithium are many. Nausea, stomach cramps, thirst, muscle weakness, vomiting, diarrhea, confusion, and tremors.